In Loving Memory Of Harry

Harry Whiting Brigham Cole died peacefully on November 24th, 2014 surrounded by loving family; he was 86. Harry was born on February 6th, 1928 in Snoqualmie WA to Clarence George and Rose (Nathalia Ingeborg Swanson) Cole, the second of five children. Harry and his brother George, only one year older than him, were often mistaken for twins. When asked one time as youngsters if they were twins, Harry's answer was, "We're not twins, we're Swedes!" Harry's sister Rosa, born in 1929 just a year after him died as an infant. His brother Fred was born 10 years later in 1939 and his sister Clarice with whom he had a very close and special relationship was born in 1942. Harry's family eventually moved to Longview, WA where he attended Robert A. Long High School. Forgoing a football scholarship to Oregon State, Harry instead joined the army in October 1946 serving with the Company G 20th Infantry Regiment until 1948 earning the Army of Occupation Medal and WWII Victory Medal.

In 1950, Harry met his wife of 43 years, Donna Mae Reader, at the Triple X Hamburger Drive-In on Aurora. They were married in 1951 and together raised their family of eight children in the Edmonds and Shoreline area.

Harry tried his hand at boxing before enlisting and continued during and after his time in the service. Although his boxing career was a successful one, following his return from the service, Harry chose to begin a more enduring career path, working in various jobs until he joined the Seattle Police Department in 1954. Harry proudly served the great city of Seattle for close to 31 years. Upon his retirement in 1984, Harry continued working in uniform for Seattle City Light for an additional 20 years.

Harry's illustrious career with the SPD included motorcycle and several years on patrol in the Wallingford District, Seattle City Jail, and Harbor Patrol to name a few. Harry was the quintessential "Norman Rockwell" policeman. Many of the people who lived and worked downtown came to know Harry as their neighborhood policeman, greeting him by name as he walked through the Pike Place Market or the Seattle Center. He was proud of the fact that in 50+ years of service he never once drew his weapon, relying instead on his strong skills of verbal persuasion. Many people will remember him most from his years spent working at the Seattle Center in the 70's and 80's and at the Pike Place Market, where he was a fixture for 10 years. They even sold a poster of him titled "Harry Sitting on the Pig" at the Pike Place Market for several years.

Harry was the most proud of his big family and loved spending time with all of them. Growing up, summer camping trips were always the highlight of the year. Lake Chelan and Greys Harbor were always two destinations the Cole family would look forward to. Camping in a giant old army tent that all ten family members would clamber into was just par for the course for this large, boisterous family. Later on, with a few kids out of the house, a pop-up trailer, and smaller tents the camping experience seemed like the life of luxury! Harry also loved taking his family and the occasional friend on road trips down to Disneyland every few years. These trips were marked by a few over-heated radiators and our Dad's big far-reaching hand and booming voice, getting everyone under control when games of punch bug got a little too competitive. Lake Chelan, however, remained Harry's favorite destination and later in life his children and grandchildren were always happy to have him along to keep this camping tradition alive.

Harry's favorite time of the year was Christmas; he loved watching his children's eyes glow with excitement as they saw the gifts piled up under the tree. He said that he and his wife always spent more than they had, and worked all year to pay it off. His children were always incredibly important to him and as his children grew up and started their own families, Harry discovered a whole new reason to love and enjoy life: his grandchildren. Going to see them compete in sports, going to school events, and graduations was something he tried to never miss.

Harry was there, day or night, to answer the call of anyone who might need his helping hand and wisdom. He was incredibly generous and loved giving people money if he thought they needed a "little something to tide them over". During his retirement, he discovered his luck on the slot machines, a skill he honed on his many trips down to visit the Las Vegas area family. If you happened to be with him he always insisted on splitting his winnings with you, stubbornly selfless and giving.

Harry was a people person; he loved to talk and hear your story, was hard working, fair, friendly, and always approachable with a big smile and a firm handshake. He was a one of a kind, bigger than life kind of man, loved and respected by all who knew him. He was the epicenter of his large extended family, and will be dearly missed by each and every one of them.

Harry is survived by his sister Clarice Wilson and his eight children: Debbie (Carl) O'Neill, Teresa Coultas, David (Patty) Cole, Susan (Dan) Dapper, Denise (Peter) Cole, Tina (Kemp) Leetsch, Tonya Cole, Jeff (Kerry) Cole. Harry's legacy includes 15 grandchildren: Heather, Tonya, Kristie, Veronica, Joe, David, Stephanie, John, Carolyn, Brandon, Andrea, Jennifer, Ashley, Olivia and Shelby, and 8 great grandchildren: Dalton, David, Sara, Abby, Evan, Emma, Soleil and Tegan along with numerous nieces and nephews.

We love you Dad, you will forever be in our hearts!
